

Christmas shouldn't stop because a child has cancer

Support our Big Give Christmas appeal to bring festive magic to children and young people with cancer

You can make Christmas magical for children with cancer

It's hard to imagine Christmas without the chaos of unwrapping presents, the joy of family traditions, and the magic of Santa's visit. Yet for families facing childhood cancer, that's often the reality. Hospital stays and juggling appointments replace quality family time and the chance to make precious memories together.

For parents Kegan and Eamonn, life was turned upside down when their son, Clarke, was diagnosed with an aggressive form of leukaemia just three days before his first birthday. But your support helped Candlelighters to be there for the whole family.

Your support can help us be there for families like Clarke's at Christmas and all-year round.

This year we're aiming to raise £100,000 through the Big Give Christmas Challenge, to help fund emotional, practical and financial support for families affected by childhood cancer all year round.

Donations made to Candlelighters through Big Give from midday 1st December - midday 8th December could be doubled, meaning your gift could have twice the impact and bring twice the joy to children and young people with cancer.

50 lights of hope

As we celebrate our 50th anniversary year, we're launching 50 Lights of Hope - a new way for your business to support children and families this Christmas.

Donate £500 or more through your business and be part of a special display of businesses across the region making a difference. And by donating during the Big Give week, your donation could be doubled, bringing twice the impact for families facing childhood cancer.

Your £500 donation could be worth £1,000, helping us provide vital support to families when they need it most.

As a thank you for your donation...

We'll celebrate your generosity by displaying your logo on one of the 50 candles in our 50 Lights of Hope display at our family support centre, The Square.

You'll also receive:

- A thank you post from the Candlelighters LinkedIn page.
- An opportunity to visit The Square, see the display and find out more about the impact your support has made.
